STEP 5: Add
Associated Collections

[STEP 6: Review
Completed Registry
Entry>>](#)

Add associated collections

Please edit or add information about other collections associated with your IMLS funded digital collection such as:

- the physical collection from which the digital collection is derived;
- other digital collections which may be useful in conjunction with your collection; and
- sub-collections within your collection that you wish to highlight. Please note that you may describe your sub-collections in more detail by completing an additional collection registry form for each sub-collection.

If you do not have any associated collections, you may continue immediately to the next form by clicking on the "Review Completed Registry Entry" button at the bottom of the screen.

If you need to end the session before finishing your work, click the "Save File and Come Back Later" button at the bottom of the screen.

If all information below is correct, you can go to the next (and last!) screen by clicking the "Review Completed Registry Entry" button at the bottom of the screen.

New Sub-Collection was successfully added.

Sub-Collections ( Current number: 1 )

Indicate secondary collection(s) contained within the primary digital collection that you wish to highlight.

We strongly recommend that sub-collections have a URL that is distinct from that of the parent collection. This will help users distinguish between various digital collections (and avoid confusion when they are directed to the same URL multiple times).

The sub-collection will inherit the following information from the parent: Interaction with collection; Objects represented in collection; Format of digital items; Access restrictions; Copyright information; GEM topic heading; Administrator; Hosting institution; and Associated NLG projects. You may edit and add information about the sub-collection by repeating the collection registry edit process for the sub-collection. Once you submit this form, you will have an option to return to the start screen. You will see the sub-collection(s) listed along with the parent collection(s). From there you can select the sub-collection to edit.
